About the Painting with Patience Project

The Redford Library Summer Art Camp is a joint effort between the Painting with Patience Project, a non-profit organization, and the Redford Twp District Library.

The purpose of the Painting with Patience Project is to get teens to think of giving beyond themselves, use their talents in a positive way, and train them for future employment opportunities. Directed by Julie Giordano, the Painting with Patience Project teaches teens business skills, new art techniques, and how to deal with a variety of people.
